Welcome

Welcome back! We hope you all had a relaxing half term break. It looks like lots of you managed to get out and about over the week and some of you also enjoyed various Halloween activities. Thank you to those who shared your photos with us.

Curriculum

This half term we are studying different genres of writing. We will be looking at diary entries from the perspective of the Soldiers of the War. We will also look at poetry, taking inspiration from the famous poem 'In Flanders Field' and Newspaper articles.

In Maths, we are furthering our Place Value knowledge and using it to support us with addition and subtraction.

Our focus in PSHE this half term is our feelings. We will be looking at various feelings, thinking about how we know when ourselves or others encounter these feelings and how our bodies might change based on different scenarios. We will also be thinking about how we can manage our feelings and make others happy.

For Science this half term, we will be learning about sound, looking at where it comes from and how we hear.
